Working Together

WDKX and the Rhinos are teaming up to make the game of soccer fun and exciting.

When Andrew A. Langston was growing up in Georgia, he used to caddy at a local golf course. He observed how the men would swing the club, chip around the greens and line up their putts to finish the hole out. To this day, Langston uses that power of observation to help his golf game (he's a scratch golfer), and teach a very important lesson to today's youth.

Langston, owner of Rochester radio station WDKX-FM, is a firm believer that sports has a positive effect on youth. That's why he is excited that professional soccer is back in town, and he wholeheartedly supports the Rochester Raging Rhinos of the American Professional Soccer League.

"I'm glad that the Rhinos are here in Rochester," says Langston. "It's another sporting and entertainment alternative for the kids in the summertime. The lesson I try to tell the kids is if you watch a game long enough, then you can do it. I really believe that with all of the kids playing soccer in the area, the city of Rochester will embrace the Rhinos and welcome pro soccer back."

Langston, who named his radio station after Frederick Douglass, Martin Luther King and Malcolm X, - WDKX - is a firm believer that giving back to the community is priority number one for all of his businesses, especially the radio station. After 22 years on the air, WDKX is a leader among the local media in providing community support in Rochester.

"I love when the different communities of this area mix together in an atmosphere of fun and partnership," continues Langston. "Soccer is a world-wide sport, the one game in the world that really brings everyone together for the good of the game. I know that kids of all races and backgrounds will be attending Rhino games this summer. More importantly, the Rhinos are making a commitment back to the community by reaching out with their players and staff by holding clinics and games for the kids. It's another outlet in the city for kids to use their energy in a positive way."

WDKX and the Rhinos will partner this summer in many projects aimed at youth soccer and the involvement of people of all colors. Soccer is a team sport, and what better game to show that if you work together, good things will happen.

"Everyone can learn to play - if you listen, practice and keep the mind and body in shape, only positive things will come from the experience," says Langston. "The players on the Rhinos, they know that practice and positive thoughts only help their game. That is what they need to teach the kids."

WDKX and the Rhinos are teaming up to make the game of soccer fun and exciting. Working together to make the Rochester community a better place to live.

VICE-PRESIDENT/GENERAL MANAGER

Chris Economides

Chris Economides returns to the game of professional soccer in his hometown as Vice-President and General Manager of the Rhinos. Economides has teamed with Steve Donner and Frank DuRoss as owners of the A-League expansion franchise, and he brings to the team a soccer background and ownership experience.

Economides previously was co-owner of the Kansas City Attack of the indoor NPSL for two seasons, 1991-92 and 1992-93. The Attack captured the NPSL championship in 1992-93, finishing a successful regular season and defeating Cleveland 3-2 in the finals before 12,000 in Kemper Arena.

A native of Rochester, Chris graduated from MCC and Eastridge High School. He has owned various restaurants in the area while pursuing his soccer dream. Chris, his wife Donna and their two sons are active in youth soccer, hockey and baseball.

HEAD COACH

Pat Ercoli

Guiding the Rhinos in their inaugural season of A-League play is Pat Ercoli, a 37 year-old native of Toronto who is no stranger to Rochester soccer fans. Ercoli starred for the Rochester Lancers of the NASL for three seasons (1978-80) where his hard work and tenacious play made him a fan favorite. He will bring that same philosophy to the Rhinos as he prepares the expansion club for its first season.

Ercoli began his professional soccer career with Toronto in the NASL in 1976 before moving to the Toronto Castors the following season, winning a championship. While playing the next three seasons with the Lancers, Ercoli adopted the indoor game as well, playing for the New York Arrows of the MISL. Ercoli also played with Detroit, Buffalo and Baltimore in the MISL, before ending his ten-year professional career with the White and Force. He captured three MISL division championships and one overall league title while with Baltimore.

Since his retirement from the pro game, Ercoli has lived in Rochester with his wife Karen and four children while entering private business. He kept active in soccer by coaching youth leagues, and has spent time as an assistant coach with Finger Lakes Community College and Monroe Community College.

ASSISTANT COACH

Frank Odoi

Former Lancer Frank Odoi returns to his hometown in the Rhinos first season of A-League play as assistant coach. A popular soccer figure in the city of Rochester, Odoi played nine seasons with the Lancers from 1970 through 1978, helping Rochester to the NASL championship in 1970. The native of Ghana, Africa has played against such stars as Pele (Brazil), Johann Cruyff (Holland), Eusebio (Portugal), George Best (England) and Franz Beckenbauer (Germany).

during his 18-year pro career.

Odoi began his professional career in Ghana, where he played for the National Team and represented Ghana in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics. He was selected as the best player in Africa in 1965 as Ghana captured the African Cup. Drafted by the Washington Whips of the NASL in 1966, Odoi came to the United States in 1968 and played for the Whips that season before moving to the Syracuse Scorpions in 1969. Odoi was the Lancers MVP for the 1974 and 1975 seasons, playing both the forward and midfield positions.

Odoi recently was assistant soccer coach at Brockport State, and he has coached many championship youth soccer teams in the area during the past years.

RULES OF THE GAME

THE LINE-UP - The official starting line-up must be submitted one hour before game time, with the starting 11 listed first and then the substitutes. Players include the goalkeeper, the defense (sweeper, stopper, backs, marking back), midfielders and forwards (wing, striker)

TIME - The game is 90 minutes total, with two 45 minute halves, running time. The clock begins at 0:00 and climbs to 90:00. After any scored goal the referee is to stop the time immediately and restart the time on the ensuing kick-off. If the regulation game time ends in a tie, there is no overtime in regular season play

SUBSTITUTIONS - A team is allowed to substitute three field players and one goalkeeper during the game. Once a player has been substituted, he may not return to the game. If a player is injured, he cannot be replaced with a substitute and the team must play a man down the rest of the game

FOULS - Each time a player is charged with a violation of the Laws of the Game, resulting in either a direct or indirect free kick awarded to the opposing team, he shall be charged with a foul. Cautions (yellow cards) and ejections (red cards) are recorded as fouls. At the referee's discretion, he may elect not to call a foul if the receiving team has an advantage on the play

OFFSIDES - Offsides occurs when a player without the ball is between the last defender and the opposition goal. The play is whistled dead when offsides occurs. Offsides is not considered a foul, but is a team statistic. Calling offsides is primarily the responsibility of the referees assistants (linesmen). This call is subject to the referee's discretion more than any other call in soccer

SHOTS - A shot is defined as any attempt which is taken clearly with the intent to score and is directed so that it enters the goal, could have entered the goal if it had not been prevented from doing so; has traveled past the goal in close proximity to the goal if it had not been prevented from doing so.

A shot can be generated by any body part other than the hand or arm. A cross or centering pass is not a shot. A goalkeeper who intercepts a cross is not credited with a save.

GOALS - A goal is scored when the whole ball has passed over the whole of the goal line, between the goal posts and under the crossbar, provided it has not been thrown, carried or intentionally propelled by hand or arm, by a player of the attacking team, except in the case of the goalkeeper, who is in his own penalty area. When a player propels the ball into his own team's goal, regardless of the original intent (back pass, bad clearance), a goal is awarded to the opposing team. The goal is not credited to an individual, it is recorded as an "own goal". If a shot from an attacking player is deflected or mishandled into the goal by the goalkeeper or deflected by a defender, the attacking player is awarded the goal.

ASSISTS - The player whose pass leads directly to the scoring of a goal shall be credited with an assist. If a goal is scored after a series of uninterrupted passes by the attacking team, the next-to-last pass is the assist. Only one assist shall be awarded per goal scored

Coach's Notes

Valerio Gazzola
Head Coach

A lot of the guys on the team have the general feeling that something was left unfinished last season.

I'm proud of the fact that we finished in first place last year and you have to give credit to the players who maintained the same level of play despite a hectic schedule.

But our semifinal loss to Atlanta was difficult to accept, and I am sure the players want to set the record straight this year.

In a way, we've come full circle. We celebrated a championship win in '94 and suffered a cruel shootout loss last season.

If you think about it, since the team didn't make the playoffs in '93, it was the first time the Impact was eliminated in post-season play.

As a team, you can only grow from such an experience—and do your utmost to make sure it never happens again.

Club History

In November 1994 Atlanta was awarded an A-League franchise. The Atlanta Ruckus of the USISL, formerly an indoor soccer team, developed into the Ruckus in an effort to have the highest level outdoor team in the country for local players to aspire to.

The team ownership was granted to Johnny Immerman in January 1995. Under Immerman, the Ruckus brought in former U.S. National Team coach Lothar Usander as well as National Team veterans John Dixie and Bruce Murray. Under their leadership they guided the inaugural Ruckus to a Championship appearance in 1995.

The Ruckus recorded their first ever franchise victory in its first game, a shut out victory in Vancouver. In its home opener, the Ruckus earned a two goal defeat to defeat Colorado in a shut out. The Ruckus were then victorious in their first ever playoff appearance against the Montreal Impact. Atlanta closed out the season with an amazing 1-0 record in shut outs, a feat unmatched by any other team.

Last Season

Last season began with an appearance to bring Professional soccer back to Atlanta. From a dramatic home opener to coming within one goal of a Championship, the Ruckus turned a lot of heads in 1995.

The Ruckus won seven of their 10 games and had a perfect 4-0 record at home. Forwards Stale Soebye and Lenin Steenkamp led all A-League scorers, and Atlanta hosted the League's annual All Star Game against TFC of Mexico in the Mexican First Division.

Despite a mid-season slump, the Ruckus won the season finale and was hailed as the first of season. After an early three game Semi final Series that saw Atlanta defeat defending champion Montreal, it was on to a Championship Series showdown with the Seattle Sounders. Once again, Atlanta showed they were a team of destiny by defeating Seattle in the opening game. A final win on one win from a championship. As the season went, the Ruckus was 2-0, no different as Atlanta went to Game 4 out in Game 3 of the Championship before conceding to the Sounders.

The Ruckus also had its share of honors. Lothar Usander was named "Coach of the Year" by his peers. Captain John Dixie earned Defender of the Year with his tenacious play, and Stale Soebye was named forward on the post-season "All League" squad.

Ruckus

Chris Faklaris
Forward

The Ruckus add more scoring punch up front with the addition of Chris Faklaris. The South Carolina standout was their top offensive weapon, scoring 55 goals and 14 assists for 124 pts., including 12 game winning goals in his stellar four year career. These numbers rank him second among the all-time leading scorers in Gamecock history. Faklaris was Second Team All-American in 1993 and 1994. He brings great size and good speed as well as a strong presence in the air. He played in 1994 and 1995 with the U.S. Under-23 National Team and has played in numerous Olympic Festivals. Faklaris led the U.S. Under-20 National Team to an eighth place finish at the 1993 World Youth Championships in Australia, during which he recorded a hat trick against Turkey. The Atlanta native was also the 1991 Georgia Gatorade High School Player of the Year.

Mun Young Yi
Goalkeeper

Yi, former member of the Korean National Team and San Francisco Blackhawks, comes off an outstanding 1995 season. Despite a rocky start, Yi recorded 2 shut outs during the regular season and won 4 out of the last 5 games to carry the Ruckus into their first ever post season appearance. Mun continued his spectacular play into the playoffs, recording Atlanta's first ever playoff victory against then defending champion Montreal and again in Game 1 of the Championship Series against Seattle. Yi had a 1.63 goals against average over 14 games and will be the starting netminder going into the 1996 season.

Greg Sheen
Defender

Former 3-time national indoor champion with the Atlanta Magic, Greg Sheen returns for his second season with the Ruckus. Sheen will be the backbone to a stingy defense that shut down the high-powered Montreal Impact in the 1995 post-season. As a former leading scorer with the University of North Texas as a freshman, he also has the added dimension to attack from the back. Greg notched one goal and 5 assists during the 1995, including setting up the Ruckus' lone goal in Game 3 of the Championship. Sheen was very consistent throughout the season, starting 23 of 24 games during the regular season and all 6 playoff games. His strong, consistent play and scoring touch will be a great complement to the 1996 campaign.

Coach's Notes

Charlie Morgan
Coach

After a 1995 season that brought the inaugural Ruckus one victory from the Championship under now Major League Soccer coach Lothar Osiander, former assistant Charlie Morgan has taken on the challenge to lead his second year Atlanta Ruckus to the one thing that they lacked last year, a Championship. For Morgan, 33, he is no stranger to success. Prior to coaching the Ruckus, Morgan led the Atlanta Magic of the USISL back to back national indoor championships. With a combined two year indoor record of 33-1, he was twice named "Coach of the Year" for the USISL. In 1994, the outdoor Magic made it to the Divisional Final with a record of 15-1. Morgan started his coaching career as an assistant at Georgia State and Clemson Universities.

As a player, Morgan ended his collegiate career by capturing the 1984 NCAA Championship at Clemson. He then went on to play for the 1985 U.S. World University Team in Kobe, Japan. Morgan's illustrious professional career began in 1985 following the World University Games, as he joined the Cleveland Force of the NASL and was runner-up for "Rookie of the Year" honors. He then went on to star for the Jacksonville Generals, Atlanta Attack and Kansas City Attack of the NPSL, before retiring due to knee injuries. Charlie is married to Katy and they reside in Buckhead with two cats and a dog.

The 86ers captured four straight CSL Cup Finals from 1988-1991.

The 86ers won six straight regular season titles (5 in the CSL and 1 in the A-League) from 1989-1993.

In 1990 the CSL champion 86ers defeated the A-League champion Maryland Bays to win the North American championship.

During the height of the U.S. club, the 86ers posted an amazing 46 game undefeated streak (35 wins and 7 ties).

about 100,000 fans.

Heading into the 1996 season, the 86ers have an all-time regular season record of 28 wins, 60 losses and 29 ties.

Last Season

1995 was a rebuilding year for the 86ers in the wake of a disastrous 7-13 record in 1994. With a new roster of players, the 86ers stumbled out of the gate with a 1-6 start to the '95 campaign.

But head coach Carl Valentine managed to hold the team together and build up the confidence of his youngsters and was eventually rewarded with a 10-14 record and a third-place finish in the A-League standings.

The 86ers' fine crop of rookies was led by the trio of Paul Dault, A-League Rookie of the Year Giuliano Oliviero and Martin Nash, all of whom finished in the top ten in the league scoring race.

The 86ers' all-time leading scorer, Domenic has 99 career regular season A-League and CSL goals, but only one of those goals came in a non-regularized 1995 campaign. A tug and hamstring limited Domenic's playing time last year to 7 late season games as a second half substitute...After missing the winter playing indoor soccer with Hamburg of the NPSL, Domenic has regained his fitness and his familiar goal scoring form. In addition to his 99 regular season goals Domenic has found the back of the net 13 times in 18 career CSL and A-League playoff games...Individual honours include CSL All-Star selections in 88, 90 and 91, the 91 CSL Scoring Title (when he scored a league record 25 goals), the 91 CSL MVP Award and Second All-Star team honours in the A-League in 93. Coach's Notes

Lorne Donaldson
Coach

Beginning his third season as the Foxes Head Coach, Lorne Donaldson has been with the club since its inception in 1991 in two various capacities. He began as a player under then Head Coach Emilio Romero, but made his greatest impact on the club by running instructional camps for youth players during the summer.

In 1991, Donaldson became an assistant coach under Romero. That year saw the Foxes increase their goal output by scoring 37 goals, a 10% increase from the previous year. The next year, he was promoted to head coach and led the team to a 10-10-10 record. Donaldson is an assistant coach and player for the Foxes in the 1995 season.

A coach for the Foxes, Donaldson has been a forward pressure and relentless attacking. He opposing team's defense would reap the rewards. As Player Personnel, Donaldson's aggressive and competitive style of play has been a key factor in the Foxes' success. He has been a key player in the Foxes' success, and he has been a key player in the Foxes' success. He has been a key player in the Foxes' success, and he has been a key player in the Foxes' success.

With many of the veteran players gone from the Foxes squad, a change in Donaldson will be necessary. He will need to provide leadership. His team's last year's rookies will provide this year's stability and they will generate the energy and the teamwork that will take us back to the top of the league.

Club History

The concept is simple: the New York Fever began in 1993 by Bob Budner. By the spring of 1994, the NY Fever were granted a franchise to the third division United States System of Independent Soccer Leagues (USISL). The team was sanctioned as a professional soccer club by the United States Soccer Federation (USSF). In their first season, the Fever finished 9-11 placing sixth in the USISL's Northeast Division. Building on the experience, the Fever managed to become the 1995 USISL Northeast Division Champions. The Fever were regional hosts for the 1995 U.S.M. "Sizzlin' Nine" Championship series and finished with a stellar record of 2-1-6.

The growth of soccer in the USA also saw expansion in the professional A-League. The New York Centaurs were formed by businessman Roger Lortveig, a native of England. Playing their inaugural season at Downing Stadium in New York City, the Centaurs finished at 7-11. As plans for the MLS unfolded and other squads inquired about professional status, management from both the Fever and Centaurs took stock of their positions and began reassessing their business plans. After initial inquiries built into serious discussions, both squads felt that combining the two teams would be the best way to move forward. The merger of the New York Centaurs and the New York Fever was formally announced on January 31, 1996. The team will now play in the Division 2 A-League as the New York Fever. The team looks forward to the challenges ahead and the opportunity for community outreach and quality family entertainment.

Last Season

The New York Fever saw a former US National Player coach the Centaurs win the USISL Northeast Division Championship with a 21-6 record in regional hosts for the USISL "Sizzlin' Nine" Championship series. The Fever edged a strong squad from Hawaii before losing to the Minnesota Thunder in a shoot-out. The New York Centaurs finished their A-League season at 11-11-6 placing 11th against the two squads in the A-League Championship Seattle and Atlanta. The Centaurs, participating in the US Open Cup, defeated the Connecticut Wolves 4-0 while down a man before losing to the Chicago Sting 2-1 in the round-of-eight.

Coach's Notes

Mark Shearer
Head Coach

New York Fever head coach Mark Shearer's outstanding playing record, and even more impressive pro coaching record (41-14), combine to make him one of the most successful U.S. soccer coaches at the tender age of 28. His first Fever year saw a stunning turnaround, as he transformed the team with a 9-11-1994 record to a 1995 championship team with 21 wins and only 6 losses—results achieved despite a player budget that was slashed in half. Shearer credits the Fever's success to his "keep it simple" philosophy: "Work as a unit to win the ball back from your opponents. Then keep possession or put it in the net."

As a player, Shearer appeared with the England U-18 National Team, gaining caps against Scotland and Switzerland, and played four years with Fairleigh Dickinson University, including two NCAA Division I Championship competitions (1988-1989). Shearer also spent several periods with Newcastle United, and credits Kevin Keegan (for whom Shearer is a U.S. player scout) with influencing his coaching philosophy.

A proven winner, Shearer looks forward to the "new challenge" and "fierce competition" the A-League has to offer. In addition to assisting with the Fever's youth camp, Shearer also owns and directs Tri-State Soccer School, a New Jersey-based professional youth coaching organization that draws 2,000 children a year to its varied programs.

Club History

The Rochester Raging Rhinos may be an A-League expansion team for the upcoming 1996 season, but soccer fans in the Rochester area are no strangers to the sport—in fact, Rochester has quite a tradition of the world's most watched game. The Rochester Lancers of the North American Soccer League had great clubs in the late '60's and early '70's, including a NASL championship in 1970. It was only natural for the ownership group of Steve Donner, Frank DuRoss and Chris Economides to form and bring professional soccer back to Rochester.

The unique Rochester ownership group combines the financial, business and hockey ownership experience of DuRoss, the fifteen years of sports marketing and management of Donner in hockey and lacrosse and the soccer background and ownership of Economides. In its inaugural season, the Rhinos will play at Frontier Field, Rochester's new downtown stadium that seats 14,000 for soccer.

The Raging Rhinos nickname was selected by a "Name the Team" contest, which drew over 1,500 entries with 500 different names. Narrowed to a list of ten names, a celebrity panel chose four names, which included Rhinos, Rampage, Ravens and Roccers. Realizing the character and marketing possibilities of Rhinos, the club selected an animal most known for its tenacious and tough identity.

Pat Ercoli, a veteran of the NASL and indoor professional soccer, will take the coaching reins for the Rhinos in their inaugural season. Ercoli, a native of Toronto, starred for the Rochester Lancers in the late 1970's as a midfielder. He recently has been an assistant coach with Finger Lakes Community College and Monroe Community College in the Rochester area. Assisting Ercoli this season will be former Lancer teammate Frank Odoi, a native of Ghana who played professional soccer for 18 seasons, including representing Ghana in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

The Rhinos have signed several key players over the winter months, including forwards Zoran Karic and Doug Miller from the indoor Cleveland Crunch, midfielders Andrew "Yogi" McKay (Buffalo-NPSL) and Tommy Tanner (Cleveland-NPSL), defenders Matt Knowles (Milwaukee-NPSL), Rene Rivas (Brazil) Marco Rizi (Buffalo-NPSL) and goalkeeper Bill Andrack, (Atlanta-A-League). With the addition of a talented crop of local players, the Rhinos hope to vie for the A-League championship in their first season of play.

Rhinos

Doug Miller

Doug Miller will be the Rhinos "deep threat" this season, an exciting player that will be a key figure in Rochester's offense in their inaugural season. The forward will mainly play the outside wing position, and Rhinos Head Coach Pat Ercoli will utilize his speed in one-on-one battles with the opposition's defender. "We want him to be isolated on the outside," explained Ercoli. "Doug's a quick player who is able to work the outside position very well."

Miller, 27, has played the last two outdoor seasons with the New York Fever of the USISL, and also has A-League experience with the Maryland Boys during the 1991 outdoor season. An accomplished indoor player as well, Miller was third in team scoring for the Cleveland Crunch this past winter in the NPSL. Traded to the Crunch from Harrisburg during the 1993-94 indoor season, the native of Newark, New Jersey has five years indoor experience, including his first season of professional soccer with Baltimore of the MISL in 1991-92. Miller played his college soccer at Loyola, Baltimore.

Zoran Karic

When Head Coach Pat Ercoli was hired by the Rhinos, he promised an offensive-minded team. He then went out and signed four defenders and a goalkeeper. Rochester soccer fans were asking where the fuel for the fire was. When the Rhinos signed striker Zoran Karic, Ercoli had suddenly supplied "high-test" to the Rhinos offense.

Karic, 34, has been a go-to-time offensive machine in the indoor game. He has played in the NPSL and MISL. Karic has played for San Diego (1987-1989) and Cleveland (1989-1996) during his indoor career. Karic won two MISL championships in San Diego, and was a West Division All-Star during the 1989-90 season. Traded to Cleveland during that season, Karic led the MISL in goals (73) in 1990-91, was the league scoring champ in 1991-92, and was selected a First Team All-Star in 1992-93. His best season was the following year when Karic was the NPSL Most Valuable Player, earning First Team All-Star accolades and led the league in points and assists, setting NPSL all-time records in the process.

During the 1994-95 campaign, Zoran was a First Team All-Star and Co-MVP of the league's all-star game. Karic finished second in league scoring to teammate Hector Martinez this past season. The native of Kacarevo, Yugoslavia started with international power Partizan Belgrade before beginning his indoor career in the United States in 1988.

Tommy Tanner

Helping to solidify the midfield position in the Rhinos first season of A-League play is Tommy Tanner. A native of Syracuse, New York, Tanner will be considered a "local boy" in Rochester, and he promises to excite the Rhinos faithful with his superb playmaking skills.

Tanner has five seasons of indoor experience, all with Cleveland. In 1991-92 he was named the MISL's Rookie of the Year in his freshman season of pro soccer. The 5'8" 150-pounder has been a solid force for the Crunch, enjoying his best season in 1993-94 when he notched 83 points in 40 games. Tanner finished sixth on the Crunch in scoring this past season with 41 points in 29 games.

A two-time Parade Magazine All-American at Syracuse Henninger High School, Tanner was selected All-New York State three times during his high school career. Tommy was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection during his college career at North Carolina State, helping the Wolfpack to a NCAA Final Four appearance his senior season.

Coach's Notes

Pat Ercoli
Coach

Leading the Rochester Rhinos in their inaugural season of A-League play will be Pat Ercoli, a 37-year-old native of Toronto who is no stranger to Rochester soccer fans. Ercoli starred for the Rochester Lancers of the NASL for three seasons (1978-80), where his hard work and tenacious play made him a fan favorite. He will bring that same philosophy to the Rhinos as he prepares the expansion club for its first season.

Ercoli began his professional soccer career with Toronto Italia (NASL) in 1976 before moving to the Toronto Blizzard the following season, where they captured a championship. While coaching Rochester soccer fans during his Lancers years, Ercoli also adopted the indoor game, playing for the New York Arrows (MISL). Ercoli also played for Detroit Buffalo and Baltimore in the MISL before closing his ten-year professional career with the Cleveland Force.

He captured three MISL division championships and one overall league title while in Baltimore.

Since his retirement from the pro game, Ercoli has lived in Rochester with his wife and four children while entering private business in the area. He kept active in soccer by coaching youth leagues, and spent time as an assistant coach with Finger Lakes Community College and Monroe Community College, both Rochester area two-year schools.

Ercoli promises a hardworking club that will be entertaining and offensive minded. The Rhinos hope that this blueprint for success will lead him into a commanding position in the A-League come September.

After many years in the signage business, Metro Sport/Event Signage knows the unique problems faced by users of on-site sports signage.

Our Transframe™ systems were specifically designed to meet those special needs in an attractive, versatile and convenient way.

The standard Transframes are a free standing sign frame system consisting of three 4' rigid bars interconnected with 3' collapsible braces. Your sign is attached on one or both sides with Velcro™ strips, creating the viewing surfaces.

Transframe can be easily ballasted or staked before or after applying the signs in the case of unusually rough weather.

Universal

Each set of four 4' interlockable sections form a triangle frame of unlimited length. Transframe sections fit into a 5"x5'-1/2" making tube when retracted. The tube was specifically designed to be strong enough for repeated shipping and storage; the size and 70 lb. weight allows it to easily jps to any location. These same features mean 20' of Transframe can be assembled by one person in less than ten minutes.

On Site Mobility

Anyone with experience in sport signage knows that adaptability is a vital characteristic.

Transframe's light weight and convenient size make movement simple, allowing you the absolute maximum in on-air visibility.

Easy Contracting

Each Transframe section folds to an easily manageable 4' length. In addition, each section is completely assembled and absolutely no tool are needed.

The Metro commitment to quality is evident in every detail. Each Transframe section is constructed of aluminum and galvanized steel, ensuring smooth dependable performance for years to come.

Transframe can be customized to your specifications to better meet your precise requirements. Custom sizes and contours are also available.

Metro has the experience and technical knowledge necessary to produce your Transframe signs quickly and accurately. Commonly used materials include Tyvek™, Lexan™, masonite, PVC and vinyl.

The new TF 90, accepts hardboard or fabric with ease while providing a 90° angle. Frames may also be purchased separately.

Your Transframe purchase assures you more than a carefully crafted promotional signage system. You have the added advantage of working with experienced Metro professionals, who offer the highest quality products and service in the industry.

Transframe Systems can be configured for any size.

Versatile

The interlocking Transframe system forms continuously linkable signage, excellent for use on even the most irregular or hard to manage surface. The signs can be made of any durable fabric or hardboard and changed in a matter of minutes, creating almost unlimited design options.

To further customize your look, any individual or joined Transframe section can stand on end to create a kiosk or highly visible three-sided pyramid.

By Mike Latona

Aside from some bundled-up athletes on the soccer field and a few curious students craning their necks as they walked by, the University of Rochester's Paauer Stadium was completely deserted.

Cold vapor shot out of the soccer players' mouths as they ran through their drills. Light snow had fallen earlier that late-April day, making it hard to believe that the team's season opener was less than two weeks away.

At that point, the darkly tanned Billy Andracki may have been wondering exactly what he'd gotten himself into. For someone whose previous outdoor professional soccer career was spent in Georgia and Florida, he could sum up this frigid spring weather in one word:

Yuck.

"This is crazy," the Ragging Rhinos' goalie said in disbelief. "When I first got here (in early April), we were running in rain and snow. Every day you wake up and say, 'It's going to be nice today,' and every day it's not."

Weather aside, however, Andracki is anything but a complainer. In fact, the 6-ft., 185-pound goalie gets as excited as a kid on Christmas morning when discussing the first-year Rhinos' prospects for success.

"After all is said and done, this team can compete for, and win, the A-League," Andracki said. "Anything less would be a let-down."

Andracki's own abilities lend credibility to his prediction. As he begins his fifth year in professional soccer, the 27-year-old Andracki brings a diversified list of experience to the Rhinos.

Andracki, a native of Prince William, Va., was an NCAA All-American at Rutgers University in his senior season of 1992. That year he led his team to the Division I national final, and made a heroic effort in the championship game against UCLA. Andracki held the Bruins scoreless through regulation and overtime, but the Scarlet Knights came up short in a tie-breaking shootout and were defeated 1-0.

A similar experience greeted Andracki in his rookie pro season with the Tampa Bay Rowdies of the American Professional Soccer League. Though he only gave up one goal in the A-League title contest against Colorado, that was the game's only score in a 1-0 loss. Andracki finished his sparkling rookie campaign with a 1.55 goals-against average and five shutouts to net the A-League's 1992 Rookie of the Year and Goalie of the Year honors. In addition,

Soccer Digest voted him Player of the Year.

Andracki spent one more year in Tampa before moving to Atlanta for the 1994 and 1995 outdoor seasons. He also owns four seasons of indoor experience, playing three years with Cleveland of the National Professional Soccer League before switching to Tampa Bay this past winter.

It was indoors that Andracki finally achieved his elusive championship: he served as backup goalie for the 1992-93 Cleveland team that captured the NPSL crown. Andracki's playing rights were recently traded to Chicago, where he plans to play in the winter of 1996-97.

In the meantime, Andracki will be an integral part of the Rhinos' defense — not only with his skills, but also with his awareness of A-League opponents.

"I'll know probably 90 percent of the guys on the other teams," he remarked. "I'll know their strengths and weaknesses, and definitely give my two cents' worth — who's going to take free kicks, how they're going to do corner kicks."

Good team chemistry further fuels Andracki's optimism about the Rhinos. "It's a great bunch of guys; everybody gets along really well. Some teams jell and some don't, but these guys are soccer-knowledgeable and they're personable, too," he said.

"Everybody's ready to go. There's a lot of excitement."

An additional cause for enthusiasm is the Rhinos' scheduled move in mid-July to Frontier Field. Andracki, who can view the new facility from his downtown Rochester apartment, reports that Frontier is a perfect soccer fit for a city of this size.

"When I was playing in Tampa Stadium, that was a 70,000-seat place with 4,000-5,000 people in the stands. It seemed like there were two people out there," he remarked. "But this stadium should provide a real soccer atmosphere."

Finally, Andracki noted, he senses the general hoopla over the Rhinos' arrival in a city that has gone without pro soccer for more than a decade.

"In Tampa, we pretty much fell off the front page of the sports section. But this area, in the little time I've been here, has given the most coverage to soccer that I've seen," he said. "All these TV cameras are out to the practices. And, I think this city's dying for a championship."

Andracki hopes to return to Rochester beyond this season, saying he'd love to stay an extended period. "Yet in the life of a soccer player, he also knows it's pretty hard to plan far ahead."

"I've been away from home ever since I was 17 years old. Every six months you're beginning a new set of adventures," Andracki said. "I can tell you how to get from Point A to Point B in so many cities."

He added that this nomadic existence has lost some of its appeal in recent years. "At the beginning of my playing career I wasn't too unhappy with the lifestyle, it wasn't too much of a hassle. I could live out of my car and hop from city to city every six months," he said. "Now, as you get older, you want to settle down. You want to have, if not a wife and a family, a dog or puppy — but I can't even have that. You're really a drifter. My parents are in Orlando now, and when I stay with them that's the closest thing I have to a home."

However, he added that the Rhinos management has made him feel very much at home.

"Of all the teams I've played for, this is the best in terms of treating you as a professional," he remarked. "Chris (Economides) and Pat (Ercoli) are more personal and more up-front than any general manager or coach I've ever dealt with. And in this sport, I know so many guys who go to teams and when paycheck time comes, there's no paycheck."

Andracki has no plans to scale back his playing schedule any time soon, so a return to Rochester next summer is a distinct possibility. And, after a solid winter in Tampa Bay that saw rise to the No. 1 goalie status for the first time with any indoor team, Andracki is on a big roll.

"It doesn't always show up in the goals-against average, but right now my game is very good. I feel as comfortable as I have in a while, and I haven't really begun to touch the goals I've set. There are still many plateaus I want to reach."

At this point, those plateaus are all soccer-related. Andracki hopes to attain his bachelor's degree in finance over the next couple of years.

He's 12 credits short — but for now, his superior athletic skills will provide the bulk of his income. "I love to play and it's my living," he concluded.

The New Pro Sports Team in Town

Rhinos Emerge from the Jungle

It started as a casual meeting between two American Hockey League owners and has subsequently turned into an all-out sports happening this summer in the city of Rochester. Rhonomania has arrived in town, and has taken the area by storm in this soccer rich community.

It didn't take long for Rochester American Hockey President and CEO Steve Donner to convince Providence Bruins Co-owner Frank DuRoss that a professional soccer team would be successful in this area. Rochester has a proud soccer tradition, one that dates back to the mid-1960's with the Rochester Lancers of the NASL and continued with the Rochester Flash in the early 1980's. The area supports over 25,000 youths that play in various organizations around the country.

Rochester has always been able to provide contending teams in the professional ranks, an area that is admittedly not a major metropolitan city but one that has a proud tradition of championship teams. (From the Amerks Calder Cups to the Red Wings Governor's Cup trophies.) The Rochester Knighthawks lacrosse team faught their second season of play in the MLL with their second trip to the playoffs. The Lancers captured the NASL title in 1970 and over 25 years later, the Rhinos hope to bring another pro soccer championship crown to this city.

The unique Rhinos ownership group combines the financial, business and hockey ownership experience of DuRoss, the fifteen years of sports marketing and management of Donner (hockey and lacrosse) and the soccer background of Chris Economides. Economides, a native of Rochester, owned the Kansas City Attack of the NPSL indoor professional league from 1991 to 1993 bringing a championship to the city in 1992-93. As general manager, Economides will assemble a team of players who combine world-class experience with a local flavor of the area's best soccer players.

The Rhinos have a 28-game regular season schedule, 14 home and 14 away. One exhibition contest against a world-class European club will be held over the summer, with other exhibition games to be scheduled as the season progresses. Rochester will play their first four home games at the University of Rochester's Pavver Stadium while Frontier Field is completed. The downtown multi-purpose stadium located on the corner of North Plymouth Avenue and Platt Street will feature 14,000 seats for soccer, 20 suites for corporate use, a picnic and party area during games and a certified area of the stadium for over 100,000 fans. The stadium will be a premier venue for the city of Rochester.

So how does a northern city, well-known for its beautiful summers, but better known for its brutal winters, boost a nickname of a rhinoceros? It's all in the image, you see. The "Raging Rhino" was selected by a name-the-team contest through Gannett Rochester newspapers with over 100 entries collected and 501 different names suggested. Narrowed to a list of ten names, a celebrity panel, consisting of Gannett sports columnist Bob Matthews, WROC TV's Wanda Miller, WHEC TV's Rich Funke, former Lancers star Carlos Medaeros and Penfield high school coach John Butterworth chose four names to submit to Rhino management, which included Rhinos, Rampage, Ravens and Roovers.

Realizing the character and marketing possibilities of the Rhino, the team selected the name best known for its tenacious and tough identity. "Raging" was added as a third option for the franchise name, a subtle way of telling the public that this team will not be taken for granted on the field. The Rhinos logo, a caricature of a determined rhinoceros with a soccer ball stuck on its horn, was a collaboration of ideas produced by Ned Stein of Stein Design and Bill Steinmiller of Steinmiller Design. Ahead of the game, and ahead of the crowd, the Rhinos will be the first to arrive at the stadium or at Rhino home games.

By early March, the team had management and staff, a coach, team colors, a logo and a nickname. Now it needed players. General Manager Economides and Head Coach Pat Bradley set out to shape a team that was an offensive power—and promptly signed five defensive players. Goalkeeper Bill Armstrong led the Atlanta Ruckus to the A-League championship game last season, while sweeper Rene Krizic won a championship with N.C. Campomaior in Portugal. Adding defender Marco Ren from the Buffalo Blizzard indoor league along with local products Tim Ash, and Leon Munon make the Rhinos a tough line of defense.

will head a group of midfielders with plenty of experience. McKay played last winter with the Atlanta Ruckus in Buffalo and will team with fellow midfielder players Tommy Tanner (Cleveland) and David Kelly (Harrisburg) to strengthen the midfield position for Coach Bradley.

Getting back to the explosive offense, the Rhinos' management to supply gas to the attack, but their patience has been rewarded. The Rhinos signed forward Zoran Karic, a perennial all-star and leading scorer for the Cleveland Crunch, Cleveland teammate and winger Doug Miller was also added, along with St. John Fisher grad Darrell Stuart (a native of Jamaica), and Carl Hopfinger. Expected to join the club in June is Kofi Debra, one of Ghana's brightest young stars.

Ericoli, along with Assistant Coach Frank Odor, began training camp in early April. Teammates on the Lancers in the late 1970's, Ericoli and Odor promise a club that is exciting, hardworking and fun to watch. Ericoli expects the first-year franchise to be competitive and challenge the league leaders.

The Rhinos will broadcast all games, home and away, on WJBL AM 950 and WJBL-FM 90.5. Don Stevens, the Voice of the Amerks, will slide behind the microphone to call all of the play-by-play action. Rochester will also be seen on television this season, coast-to-coast, as Prime Network will carry an A-League Game of the Week every Friday night during the summer. The Rhinos will be featured seven times, including their home opener on May 10 and their July 12 debut at Frontier Field. Locally, the Empire Sports Network will carry the Prime A-League schedule, either live or on a tape-delayed basis.

Major League soccer is back in Rochester, and the Raging Rhinos will charge onto the scene with exciting soccer action.
